News Bulletin 20 - 14 May 2023

Hello all

Lovely weather down here on Tresco, Isles of Scilly. A temperamental but passable WiFi signal should allow this bulletin to come to you.

Dennis Wake hinged trinket box

Dennis Wake sent pictures of the trinket box he made at the demonstration last week, which he had finished back in his workshop.

A write-up of the demonstration is now on the Ryedale Woodturners website.

Martyn has a video of the trinket box demonstration on YouTube: <https://youtu.be/Jl2h4FfMfIA>

Hands on workshop day: Friday 23 June

This is at Andy McLaughlin's workshop in Ebberston. It runs from 10:00 until 4:00 with a break for lunch and a running self-service coffee/tea lounge courtesy of Andy throughout the day. There is no charge to members. By way of information: for those who have recently joined the woodturning club, we hold similar all-day events around the year. They are open to everyone, whatever their level of skill, and have the benefit of several on-site lathes plus experienced turners who are on hand to offer tuition and advice. Some members simply come along and 'do their own thing'; others chose to benefit from some helpful and encouraging tuition.

Numbers are always limited and are on a first-come-first-served basis. Full details, including a location map, will be available nearer the time. But it's not too soon to sign-up if you'd like to take part. If so please email our training officer Geoff, drgeoffreywalker@gmail.com and he will add your name to the participants' list.

Bottle stops: a cautionary tale from John Whiteley

Over the years I have turned a lot of bottle stops using a special arbor. I recently ordered a batch from Turners Retreat as usual. On arrival they had a different thread so the arbor was useless meaning far more work. There was no mention of any change or what type of thread on the website. If ordering do check what thread you're ordering.

Update: last week's plane was made by Geoff Walker. It was a present for his brother.

Andy McLaughlin sent in some pictures of an end-grain yew bowl he had created.

And another curly one from John Whiteley
